

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin.

THAT Circleville's spectacular event of the year 1875 was an elaborate Martha Washington Tea Party, sponsored by the ladies of the Central Presbyterian church of this city, and in which several present residents of the city took part. The party was held in the then popular Peck's Hall, (above the G. C. Murphy Store, corner Main and Court-sts.) April 30 of that year.

The ladies of the church prepared many weeks for the affair, and according to The Herald of that date, their efforts were rewarded, as the event was a great success from every angle. The hall was elaborately decorated. The thirteen original states were represented by booths, which contained every variety of refreshments, each kind most appropriate to one of the old states.

The editor of The Herald of that date observed the following ladies in the booths:—

Massachusetts, Mrs. Ruggles and Mrs. Kinsford; N. Hampshire, Mrs. Catherine Jones; Mrs. Frank Jones and Miss W. H. Vermont, Mrs. Delaplaine, Miss Jennie Jones and Miss Maggie Lewis, Rhode Island, Mrs. Groom, Mrs. Dr. Wilder and Mrs. Morris; Connecticut, Mrs. W. Gill, Mrs. Mrs. Harry Martin, Mrs. Lemuel Boggs and Miss Wilkes; New York, Mrs. Walling, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Hammill, Miss Steel and Miss McHenry; New Jersey, Mrs. Winship and Mrs. E. P. Strong; Pennsylvania, Mrs. Sophia Crouse, Miss Nellie Hartley and Miss Mollie Clarke; Maryland, Mrs. Bowers, Mrs. Leo Jones, Mrs. Frank S. Jones, Mrs. A. R. Boney, Delaware, Mrs. Harless Renick and Mrs. N. J. Turkey; Virginia, Mrs. W. H. Albright and Mrs. Williams; N. Carolina, Mrs. William Hendrick, Mrs. Dr. Courtwright and Mrs. S. W. Courtwright; S. Carolina, Mrs. VanCleave, Miss Delaplaine, Miss Helen Guthrie, Lizzie Ruggles and Mamie Gill; Georgia, Miss Sallie Morris, Miss Ida Machir and Miss Nellie Jacob.

The members of the official court included Mrs. Josiah Renick as Martha Washington; ladies of the court, Mrs. Bingham, Miss Vattier of Cincinnati; Nellie Custis, Miss Hartley of Bedford Springs, Pa.; Mrs. John Adams, Miss Lottie Osburn of Toledo, Mrs. M. L. Doddridge, the court musician; Alexander Hamilton, F. M. Brooks; Marquis de Lafayette, Dr. Hartley R. Clarke, and John Hancock, Ned McCrea.

Further commenting on the event, The Herald of the time had this to say:—

"The costumes were appropriate, rich and elegant. That of the Master Father attracted marked attention, and many others deserved special notice, had we time and room.

"In a wigwag the gentle savage was gracefully represented by Mrs. W. H. Albaugh. Mrs. Frank Williams well portrayed the forest of life. Mrs. Albaugh assumed the role of Pocahontas.

"Our dignified friend, Charles S. Martin, had the honor of putting George Washington on the stage, and well he did it. Mr. M. well looks the character of him who was first in war, first in peace and wielded the hatchet.

"The hall was beautifully decorated with portraits, the arms of the respective old 13 states, evergreen, etc.

"The affair was the most elaborate and recherche of the kind ever attempted in this city and the financial result was amply satisfactory to the fair projectors."

THAT John Brunner, father of Charles Brunner and Misses Sylvia and Mattie Brunner of Pinckney-st. left Circleville in 1850 and returned in May, two years later, with $4,000 in gold nuggets, which he earned "by hard digging." Mr. Brunner staked a claim in southern California as soon as he arrived and with only two crude instruments, a pick and shovel, worked industriously for two years. "After finding gold in them that hills, Mr. Brunner came home a flyin' with his treasures." The Herald of the time stated.

Defense Asserts Women Seen Month After State Claims She Was Dead

WEST UNION, Jan. 14.—Jurors in the murder trial against Virgil Yankee, 29, were confronted today with the story that Mrs. Josie Hawes, the murder victim, was seen alive more than a month after she was allegedly slain by Yankee.

Coming shortly after the defense was overruled in its claim that the state failed to prove Mrs. Hawes was dead, the charge caused a sensation in the courtroom.

Mrs. Hawes, or "a double for her" was believed to have been seen at Bainbridge, O., at a pet show in August, it was testified by Joseph Crabtree and Clarence Freshour, Bainbridge constables.

Mrs. Hawes supposedly disappeared on June 30, and was slain the same night.

Yankee, who is alleged by the state to have killed Mrs. Hawes to prevent her interference in a love affair with her daughter, Annie Hawes, 17, denied all the state's charges when he took the witness stand.

Mrs. Hawes went away in an automobile on the night of June 30 and he never saw her again he said. The night before she disappeared he testified, he carried a note from her to a man whose identity he did not know, and returned with an answer.

JAP TROOPS THROWN BACK

Chinese Offer Stiff Resistance as Peace Plan is Reported Drawn

By International News Service Japanese troops marching on the capital of Jehol province from Kaihu were thrown back by fierce Chinese resistance in the Tung-liao area.

Numerous new skirmishes occurred as both armies prepared for a conflict of major importance.

Japanese military authorities claimed a final "clean-up" of bandits in northern Manchukuo with the surrender of General Ting-Chao, a powerful insurrectionary, and the flight of Wang Te-Lin, another rebel leader.

Some reports stated Wang Te-Lin had taken refuge in Soviet territory, with the possibility of further straining of relations between Russia and Japan of the latter demands the fugitive be apprehended and returned by Soviet authorities.

A group of Chinese Communists calling themselves "The Provisional Government of the Soviet Republic of China" presented a manifesto to the Nationalist Government, demanding immediate declaration of war against Japan.

Meanwhile, Japanese delegates to the League of Nations and Sir Eric Drummond, retiring secretary-general of the League, were reported to have drawn up a plan for reconciling the Sino-Japanese dispute, to be submitted to the far eastern committee of nineteen on Monday.

EXAMINER SOUGHT

HAMILTON, Jan. 14.—A nationwide search was to be launched today for E. H. Martindale, 34, missing Newark bank examiner, following action of the Butler-co grand jury in returning 10 indictments against him, all charging embezzlement.

Reports received by local authorities indicated he might have gone to California. Copies of his photograph were prepared for mailing today to police in all states. The state banking department will cooperate in the hunt.

The indictments charged that Martindale, who was liquidating agent of the Bank of Trenton Co., at Trenton, O., left a shortage of $1051 when he disappeared two weeks ago today. The amounts taken allegedly ranged from $25 to $159.

ABDUCTION

"Perfect Love" Evaporated

The carefully maintained illusion of "perfect love" between Maurice Chevalier, Hapsburg-lipped stage and screen star, and his estranged wife, Yvonne Vallee, was shattered when their mutual divorce petitions came up for hearing at Paris, recently. Although they have been separated for some time, the Chevaliers were insistent that they still were "crazy about each other." But divorce petitions revealed their married life had been a long series of quarrels and misunderstandings.

CRASH OF PURSUIT AIRPLANE IS FATAL

DAYTON, Jan. 14.—Crash of an army pursuit plane near Osborn, O., late yesterday had resulted in the death of one flyer and the serious injury of another.

Capt. Hugh M. Elmendorf, stationed in the office of the chief of the army air corps at Washington, was killed when the plane which he and another officer were testing, burst into flames and plunged to earth. Capt. Frank Hunter of March Field, Cal., was seriously injured when he leaped from the craft.

Several local Democrats are expected to attend the annual Fairfield-co Jackson banquet to be held at Lancaster Monday evening.

SALSBERY DENIES SHOOTING TO KILL; AID ADMITS GUILT

FATE OF TEACHER ARGUED BY JURORS

MARSHALL, Ill., Jan. 14.—Twelve jurors today pondered the fate of Herbert C. Moore, 32, the former school teacher who testified during his murder trial that he had killed his wife "because he always found the sink full of dirty dishes."

Judge C. E. Shuey gave the case to the Clarke-co jurors after outlining seven possible verdicts in his instructions last night. The state demands the death penalty for Moore for the death of his wife, Marjorie, who likewise was a school teacher.

Defense attorneys based their plea on evidence that Moore was insane.

DEMOS. PLAN FARM RELIEF

Program to Relieve Conditions Being Studied in Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A three-fold farm relief program was being pushed in Congress today by Democratic leaders as a move toward avoiding a special session after March 4.

The program, said to have President-Elect Roosevelt's approval, embraced the farm allotment plan, just enacted by the House, relief for owners of mortgaged farms and establishment of public conciliators to prevent foreclosures. Senate hearings on the allotment bill will begin Monday before its agriculture committee.

Relief for owners of mortgaged farms was held even more important than passage of the allotment bill after Democratic leaders of the Senate and House conferred with Henry Morgenthau Jr., commissioner of agriculture in New York and spokesman for Mr. Roosevelt.

The constant flow of reports from Iowa, Nebraska, Wisconsin and other states, describing resistance by farmers to foreclosure sales, spurred the Democrats. They felt immediate aid was necessary to forestall what has been agricultural sections.

"MIGHT BE DEAD," MAN WALKS AWAY

AWAIT JURY ACTION

Gunman Says He Shot in Own Defense

Claude "Bud" Salsberry, 25, and Gerald McGraw, 26, alleged "trigger man" and accomplice respectively, in the shooting fray here Wednesday evening were bound over to the grand jury by Mayor B. T. Hedges, Saturday morning, under bond of $10,000.

Salsberry is charged with shooting with intent to kill and McGraw aiding and abetting Salsberry in shooting with intent to kill. The affidavits, prepared by Prosecutor Ray W. Davis, were signed by Deputy Sheriff Bob Armstrong.

Salsberry, captured in bed at his home in Columbus early Friday, pleaded not guilty to the charge, while McGraw, who has made a complete confession to officers, admitted his part in the crime.

AWAIT JURY'S ACTION

Neither man is able to furnish the bond placed against them by the Mayor and will remain in jail at least until the grand jury session. The next session is not scheduled until early summer but Prosecutor Davis indicated it may be summoned before that time if the number of pending cases warrants.

Salsberry, in pleading guilty, said "I didn't shoot to kill the officers, I just shot to defend myself." He claims that when he started to raise his hands when ordered by Deputy Sheriff Morris Boggs the latter shot at him.

It was then that he fired, Salsberry said, striking Boggs with the shot.

After the shooting, Salsberry and McGraw fled to the hotel.

The condition of both injured officers was reported good at Berger hospital Saturday morning.

INJURIES PAINFUL

Injuries Salsberry suffered when thrown from a Norfolk & Western train he tried to board in escaping this city, were proving painful to him Saturday. One knee was so stiff he could hardly walk.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. STOOKEY

Woman, Who Erected Monument in New Holland to Civil War Veterans, Dies

Mrs. Letitia E. Stookey, 85, one of New Holland's best known residents, died at her home Friday, following an illness of complications.

The widow of John W. Stookey, who died 13 years ago, Mrs. Stookey had been a life long resident of the New Holland community, where she was held in high esteem.

She will be particularly remembered for a beautiful granite and bronze monument, which she erected and dedicated to the dead soldiers of the Civil War, in the New Holland cemetery three years ago. The monument, a life-sized bronze soldier of the Civil War, was erected within the soldiers' circle in the cemetery.

Funeral services will be held at her home at 2 p. m. Sunday, with Rev. C. L. Thomas of East Ringgold, former pastor of the New Holland M. E. church, and Rev. H. Harbaugh present pastor, officiating. Interment will be made in the New Holland cemetery.

TRIAL IS DELAYED

The trial of Louis Green, alias Art Green, 22, negro of Petersburg, Va., indicted by the Grand Jury on charges of breaking and entering the homes of Frank C. Ashner, Pickaway-twp., and Harley Moss, has been set aside for an indefinite period, according to Prosecuting Attorney Ray W. Davis today.

This action was taken after the shooting of Miller M. Fissell, witness in the case, and other subsequent revelations made by Green to Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff.

Green last week pleaded not guilty to the indictment before Common Pleas Judge J. W. Adams and his case had been set down by the court to begin Monday morning.

Petit Jurors will not report for duty until they are notified by the Clerk of Courts Ferd M. Pickens.

THE LORD'S RIGHT IN USE OF THE SABBATH

Dr. Talmage, a New York divine, has said, "We hear a great deal about the peoples' right in selecting their amusements on Sunday. I would not invade the people's rights, but it seems to me the Lord has some rights."

"You are at the head of your family; you have a right to govern the family. The governor is at the head of the state; he governs the state. The President is at the head of the nation; he governs the nation. The Lord is at the head of the universe and He has the right to lay down an enactment, 'Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy.'"

Whether popular or unpopular, I now declare the people have no rights except which the Lord God Almighty gives them. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

What should be the objective of the play programs of the church and the Sunday school?

When play and recreational programs were first introduced into the Sunday school program, very often such programs were considered as baits to increase the Sunday school enrollment. As these programs were being developed under wise leadership, the objective became evident that here was provided a practical opportunity to live together in the spirit of Christ. There is something in good sportsmanship that is very closely akin to Christianity. A party where the leaders put forth every effort to see that all the group have a happy evening is learning the meaning of Christian fellowship.

Help for the Divine Hour

One of the hardest hours in the home life is the time when some loved member is to pass out from that home by the way of death. Some explanation, some comfort is craved above everything else.

There is a story told of a dog called Ned who was confined in the close quarters of the city. At certain times Ned was taken to the country which he seemed to enjoy as seen in his dashing about with great delight. It gave him new life to get out into the country but he suffered agonies of terror on the short train ride there.

The question might be asked, "Is it not cruel to make Ned take that journey?" The answer is found in the new found joy, the larger life that comes at the end of the journey.

The passage of death which lasts for a moment is but the way to a larger life with untold joys, a life of complete satisfaction. As the train journey seemed of little importance, though it was dreaded by Ned, so that moment of departure out of the home through the pain of death seems of little importance to God who understands better than we do.

Aid For Depositors
EARLY in the depression period
When many Pennsylvania banks were closing their doors because of frozen assets (chiefly mortgages) the state department of banking organized financial groups to acquire the assets of institutions in process of liquidation and thus expedite distribution to needy depositors.

Whereas resort was made to private initiative in Pennsylvania, Governor Ely, of Massachusetts, would have the state courts create a liquidating corporation for the same purpose. Under his plan the state government would take over the mortgages.

Governor Ely maintains that in sanctioning state bank the state extended a moral guarantee to the depositors of those institutions, so it is responsible, in a sense, for the losses of those depositors.
That is going a little farther than even the depositors will go in their inevitable criticisms of their state banking department and legislature, and imposes a responsibility never assumed by governments in the regulation of private business.

Much can be said in favor of the scheme. It would release many millions in deposits which otherwise would be tied up during the slow process of liquidation and which will pay less than a hundred cents on the dollar if liquidation is made at present low realty and bond values. Against it there are two major objections. It necessitates a large loan upon which the public must pay interest, and the temptation to unload mortgages at inflated prices upon the state would be too great for the politicians and their friends to resist.

Now they are married in haste and divorced with pleasure.

The War on Illiteracy

ANOTHER unfortunate casualty of the depression is the termination of the work of the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy because of exhaustion of funds. One mitigating circumstance is that the National Illiteracy Crusade will continue the work of the committee.

The committee takes pride in the country's improved illiteracy rate, and—properly, doubt—takes some of the credit for the achievements in this direction.

America now claims 4,283,743
illiterates, or about one in 30.
Omitting children from the total population makes the illiteracy rate considerably higher. In 1920 the illiterate adult population was placed at nearly 5,000,000, so the decade showed satisfactory gains in spite of a 17,044,426 increase in population largely through immigration.

Illiteracy is being stamped out in the United States by newspapers, night schools, free education and a trend away from the isolation of aliens in foreign colonies in the larger cities. The virtual stoppage of immigration leaves most of the work to be done during the current decade among the blacks and mountaineer whites.

Had the committee been able to function until 1940 it might have been able to demonstrate its claim that its accomplishments during this decade would surpass those of the last. Before passing out of the picture it laid the ground work for an extensive campaign.

Declining magazine circulations indicate dentists are not renewing their 1930 subscriptions.

Build Dam Across Nile

LONDON — British engineering firms soon will submit tenders for a $50,000,000 dam across the Nile.
It is proposed to divert the main flow of the Nile to raise by ten feet the level of the vast Lake Albert, and to drain millions of square miles of marsh land, now an inhabitable bog of disease.

Jobless Must Earn Dole

STOCKHOLM — The 1,500 unemployed persons here who now receive cash dole because of unemployment statute will be required to perform two days' work each week, according to an announcement by the city government.

Cow Goes to School

DETROIT — Thousands of children in this automobile capital of the world saw their first cow recently when "Spot" and her calf,
"Frisky," visited 80 of the city's schools. The cow's visit was sponsored by Michigan State college and included a lecture on feeding and milking.

SYNOPSIS
Ted Wynne left his position in the Bellport steel mill to work his way through Old Dominion College so he might be the equal of the wealthy Barb Roth. He succeeds credibly. Coach Barney Mack makes him a quarterback on his nationally known Blue Comets. The first year they lose one game only, for which Tom Stone, Ted's rival in love and football, blames Ted. Barb breaks an appointment with Ted in favor of Tom. Hurt, Ted decides to teach her a lesson and ignores her.
In the company of beautiful Rosalie Downs, Ted forgets Barb for a while, but back at school she holds his thoughts. Softened by a summer of forced leisure and after-effects of a hand infection, Ted is not in his usual form. The team is also handicapped by the absence of Captain Jim Davis due to an injury. Defeated by the Navy, they come back in their game with Illinois but lose later to Georgia.

CHAPTER XXVI

Beat Army!
The Cadets had been rolling along invincibly, having conquered Southern Methodist, Harvard and Yale without uncovering any more in the way of attack than Cagle.
New Dominion had the poorest squad in its modern history. With only four games played it had already lost as many games as Barney had ever lost in any one season—as many as he had lost in four years of one stretch; but those were men in those days of Harry Hulbert.

These were only goats; black sheep.

The squad felt its position keenly. Tradition was a mighty thing.
The fact that they were smirching
it punctured the devility of Pat Moynott, the cynicism of Stone, the joviality of Pidge, the careful thought of Wynne.

The gym was a morgue—no pep,
deadly serious.

If they lost one more game they would break many records—be the first of Barney's squads to lose three in one season; the first to lose two straight to Army; they would have lost as many in one year as Barney had lost in his first six years.

And State, Army, Tech and Southern Cal were waiting—three of them unbeaten.

State was licked by pure driving fury. Barney started his first team and kept them in to the finish to protect a one-touchdown lead.

Beat Army and climb back into the king row.

The Army must not pass.

"I feel just the same about this game as I did when I first went in to the mill to work," Ted told Pidge, "if I come out before the whistle blows they'll have to carry me out."

"Me too. We can't hold our heads up if we lose this one. How's your legs?"

"Just about right. How's yours?"

"Getting stronger—but maybe I won't get much chance."

"We can't depend on Jim."

Captain Jim Davis, with his wrist tied in a cast, had been working out secretly for a week, imploring Barney to let him start against Army.

"It feels all right," he urged Barney.

"You get in shape and we'll have an X-ray taken before the game—but don't count too heavily, Jim.
It's the right spirit but that's your arm and this is only a football game."

"It's all right, Barney. This is my team—I gotta get in against Army."

A Baffling
Affliction

Dr. Copeland Writes of This Disease of Thyroid Gland

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

IT IS only recently that our knowledge of the thyroid gland was anything but meager and unsatisfactory. Even now a great deal remains unsolved.

You are familiar with "goiter" and know that it is really an enlargement of the thyroid gland, located in the front and sides of the neck. But the gland may be diseased without being enlarged.

When there is a deficiency in the activity of the thyroid, certain changes occur
within the body.
If this happens
in infants, it produces a condition known as "cretinism". A similar deficiency occurring in adult life is known as "myxedema".

While no age is exempt from myxedema, about ninety per cent of the cases occur in women beyond forty years of age. The exact cause of the disease has never been determined.

Early Symptoms
The symptoms observed are due to an actual shrinkage of the thyroid gland. The early signs of this disease are vague and rather indefinite.
No matter how slight these symptoms may seem, they should be given immediate attention.

The afflicted person is always tired regardless of his number of hours of sleep and rest. The face becomes coarsened, having a mask-like appearance. The skin is dry and scaly and the hair falls out. The patient looks as if he has gained weight, but the appearance is due to a swelling

MOVING DAY FIRE
MALDEN, Mass. — John Callahan and his family were all packed up and ready to move to another home. While he was waiting for the furniture truck, a fire started.
Firemen saved part of the furniture.

Record Run Wasted
TOPEKA, Kan. — The Topeka fire department uncorked a record run only to learn the fire had almost burned out, no one having thought of turning in an alarm for three hours.

FRANCE 'DISARMS'
PARIS — France is disarming.
Twelve cannon, seven howitzers and two mortars owned by the Artillery School here have gone under the hammer. They fetched

Coming to The Cliftona Theatre

Edward G. Robinson and Bebe Daniels in "Silver Dollar," the Cliftona hit Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

MOVIES

AT THE GRAND
"Atrid to Talk," starring Eric Linden and Sidney Fox, one of the year's outstanding pictures, will begin Sunday at the Grand. The atre for a three-day run. A special matinee will be presented Sunday afternoon.

AT THE GRAND
Presenting such popular favorites as Charles Farrell, Joan Bennett, Ralph Bellamy, Eugene Pallette and Irving Pichel in a vivid and colorful story of pioneer days in a California mining camp,
"Wild Girl" offers many pleasing surprises to Circleville film followers.

Judging from the reaction of the audience at its opening at the Grand Theatre yesterday, this Fox Films production will take its place among the really outstanding pictures of the season.

AT THE CLIFTONA
A picture filled with the thrill and romance of pioneer life in the mad gold rush days of Colorado's "silver dollar" will be seen today in "Silver Dollar," a First National picture which begins Sunday for three days engagement at the Cliftona theatre.

Edward G. Robinson, famous for his powerful screen characterizations, has the intense and colorful role of Yates Martin, the Oregon Silver King, who rose from poverty to riches overnight.

Babe Daniels and Allyn MacMahon head a notable supporting cast, which includes Jobyna Howland, LeWhitt Jennings, Robert Warwick, Harry Holman, Russell
Simpson, John Marston, Charles
Middleton, and Marjorie Gateson.

The picture presents Robinson
as a rough miner with a "silver touch," who soars from poverty to wealth and power. When romance touches him, he discards the role who has stood faithfully at his side in the struggle for riches, and with a younger, more beautiful woman, starts on a career of eccentricities that startled the world. While at the peak of his wealth and fame, his fortunes collapse with the adoption of the gold standard.

Policeman's Record
NEW YORK — Patrick J. North, policeman who has just retired after 28 years in the department, never served a summons and made only one arrest in that time.

ITALIANS FRIENDLY
DENVER — Italy has only one ship for the United States. The Italians were recently assured by Chevalier Valentino W. Adam, president of the Hotel Men's Association of Central Italy.

Batteries

We find since the new year came in that quite a number of car and truck owners have laid up their machines for an indefinite period, possibly without giving a thought to that little box under the seat or floor board. Your storage battery, the heart of the electric system dies by neglect but when properly treated it usually gives all that one would expect. Any battery in a normally discharged condition will freeze in cold weather, and therefore, in most cases you will be in the market for a new battery. On the other hand a battery which is inspected regularly, and the specific gravity reading from 1.250 to 1.300 you need not be alarmed for it required about 100% below zero to freeze a battery at 1.200. Another harmful enemy appears when the battery is not in use and that is Sulphation. This causes the plates to harden and eventually be of no use.

Let us call for your battery TODAY and store it until you give us a ring.

ASHVILLE

THURSDAY'S INSTITUTE SESSIONS

The second day's session opened at 10 a. m. with music by Old Time Fiddlers, composed of A. W. Baker and G. C. Gatten, violins; J. R. Hedges, bass viol, I. M. Scothorn, cornet, and Fred Younklin, piano. This is a local community organization and presented many old-time selections during the day which were highly enjoyed by the audience.

Invocation by Rev. H. H. Glick of the E. L. church, after which W. D. Zinn was heard on "Community Problems." He gave a resume of his work in his native state of West Virginia and as a result of his work more than forty of the fifty-five counties are organized along lines which are bearing fruit and as a result our neighbor state is among the leaders in community work.

Rev. W. N. Mantle led the discussion and brought out many features that are in practice in the local community.

"Home Surroundings" by Mrs. Maxwell was next on the program and will venture the guess that if more homes were treated with her formula more of our young folks would not leave the farm for the city. Mr. Maxwell is conducting a dairy business at Cardington and his wife gives considerable credit to home beautification for the success of their business.

Mrs. Homer Reber of Walnut-twp led in discussion and recounted some of her personal experience in making her home a more beautiful place. The subject as well as the discussion was very well received.

At the afternoon session after by the large audience.

During the afternoon the school question was discussed by County Superintendent Buchanan and others, but it was decided that was not sufficient time to do the subject justice and a meeting will be called in the future to thoroughly investigate this question.

Prof. Oscar Ert of Ohio State Dairy department gave an illustrated lecture, which was enjoyed by the large audience who recognize Mr. Ert as an authority of note.

Music by Old Time Fiddlers closed the meeting, which will go down in history as one of the most interesting in many years.

"LIGHTHOUSE NAN" A three-act comedy drama was presented by the Scioto Valley grange as a fitting climax to a successful institute meeting. The characters were well selected as to fitness and as a whole everyone did exceptionally fine. The play is one that affords a wide range for action from low comedy to high tragedy and the overflow crowd in attendance was more than satisfied.

Mrs. George Pence is seriously ill from a dropsical affection at her home in North Ashville.

J. S. Hoover is having a new building erected on his Jefferson-ave lot to be used as a meat shop. Wm. Mantz and Roy Stoker are doing the carpenter work.

Frank Conrad is recovering nicely from a recent operation in a Columbus hospital.

George K. F. Mann (left), 19, sophomore at the University of Chicago, is shown here receiving first college certificate from President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university. Young Mann, whose home is in St. Paul, is the first winner of the college certificate, a new award created under the university's new educational plan. He completed a course which corresponds to the first two years in college work, in a year and six months. Under the new plan exceptional students may proceed at a faster than average pace.

TRIGGER MAN IS CAPTURED

walked on the ties for a ways," Salsberry said, "we went back into town and started to walk toward Columbus on Route 23. We had gone about two blocks when an automobile pulled into the curbing and one man, a heavy fellow, jumped out and said 'Put them up.' Both of us started to but the man shot and the bullet whizzed past my ear. I shot at him and hit him, I believe, and then I shot at the other fellow. I could tell I hit him by the way he turned I ran then," Salsberry went on, "and ran so that I could get a woman and little girl between me and the officers and I then went between the houses."

The gunman declared that he shot only three times during the evening, once when the cab was wrecked and twice when he hit Boggs and Fissell.

THROWN OFF TRAIN

"I then went to the railroad tracks," Salsberry said, "and started to walk. After I had walked a while a train came along and I tried to board it. I was thrown off in the dark and that's where I was hurt."

"I know I'm a chump, what the hell—I had no business messing around in this kind of a job," the man declared in despair after completing his statement.

He said he had been employed by the William P. Zinn Co., real estate agents, until two weeks before Christmas when he lost his job. He needed money, Salsberry said, and he declared he couldn't sit at home and let his wife support him. She works in a Columbus overall factory Salsberry admitted one other job, a robbery at the point of a revolver in Columbus with McGraw. A sum of $430 was obtained.

The men said they started to Lancaster to try to rob a clothing store because both needed clothes. They decided not to when they reached the city and came here "to get anything we could," according to Salsberry's statement.

The man identified the revolver that was found in the Daniels home as his own. The weapon was rusted and so were the bullets. He said he had never served time for a crime but was in the Columbus workhouse for four months for non-support of a former wife. He went to the fifth grade in school, he claimed. Both his parents are dead and he has three brothers and a sister, according to his statement.

McGRAW CONFESSES

Gerald McGraw, arrested by Boggs at the time of the shooting, made a complete confession before prosecutor, sheriff's officers and H. G. Robinson of the state department of criminal identification, located at London prison farm, Thursday afternoon. The confession was transcribed by Miss Helen Rowe, court stenographer.

Prosecutor Davis said Friday that charges of shooting with intent to kill will be filed against both men even though McGraw might not have fired a shot. "He is an accessory," Davis said, "and just as guilty as the man who shot the deputies."

In the meantime Deputies Fissell and Boggs were reported in good condition at the hospital. Fissell's shoulder wound was sore, Friday, but his condition is good as is Boggs' arm injury. Hospital attaches declared that the number of visitors for the officers will be cut down considerably.

Sheriff Radcliff and Deputy Custer were entitled to a little extra sleep today after working two complete nights without "hitting the hay."

Ladybird and the Sun

In India and Egypt the ladybird has been associated from earliest times with the sun, and a comparison of the many versions of the nursery rhyme which still exist in England and in various European countries yields a similar result.

Variation in Weights

Due to the centrifugal force of the earth's rotation, the force of gravity is less at the equator than at the poles. An object which weighs 190 pounds at the equator will weigh 191 pounds near the poles.
